UK Stroke Forum Conference 28-30 November 2016

There are four different submission types to choose from:

Type 1 – Completed studies – submit under this type if your results and conclusions are available at the time of submission

Type 2 – Ongoing Clinical trials – submit under this type if your study is ongoing and will not have results or conclusions by November 2016 – this submission type is for poster presentation only.

Type 3 – Late Breaking Clinical trials – submit under this type if your study is currently in progress but will have results and conclusions by November 2016

Type 4 – Service Development (Brag and Steal) – submit under this type if your research is about innovative or original ideas being implemented in your stroke practice. All submissions will be considered for oral presentation in a specific ‘Brag and Steal’ parallel session where delegates can learn and adapt ideas from other stroke teams to improve their own practice.

To submit an abstract please click on the relevant submission type when prompted in the online submission system. The deadline for all abstract submissions is 10 June 2016

Prizes for 2016

Patient, Carer and Public Involvement (PCPI) Prize

Do you successfully engage stroke survivors and carers in the development of your service or research? Would you like to be recognised for your PCPI achievements? If yes, why not apply for the UKSF PCPI Prize? The successful applicant will win £100!

To apply for the prize simply tell us how you involved stroke survivors or carers in your research and the impact this involvement had (i.e. how did it enhance the research process and improve outcomes?) in up to 200 words.

Please note this is optional and those wishing to apply should add an up to 200 word description detailing the above within the box marked PCPI in the online submission form, as part of their overall abstract submission.
Important things to note:

Accepted authors will be required to register in full to attend and present their paper or poster at the Conference.

Authors will be contacted by 12 August 2016. Only the stated lead author (presenting author) will receive emails about the acceptance and placement of the abstract and it is their responsibility to inform any co-authors.

Abstracts selected for presentation at the event will be published in a special edition of the International Journal of Stroke.

Authors submitting abstracts should also select a category to submit their abstract under in the online submission system – the categories are listed in the guidance documents.

Authors submitting Type 1 or Type 3 abstracts should indicate if they wish to present a poster or oral presentation at the conference. Authors submitting Type 2 abstracts can only apply for poster presentation, and authors submitting Type 4 abstracts can only apply for oral presentation.
